- What do I want to learn or understand better?

I want to learn more about how to use the D3 library, specifically how to make use of our data to display values. I think this shouldn't be too hard in the future due to Kresimir's previous work. It sets a foundation to build upon, and I think as long as I put the effort in there shouldn't be too much trouble.

- How can I help someone else, or the entire team, to learn something new?

Kresimir had the idea to implement a live team editor in our development. This is something I feel would help ease development, as some of us are working in the same document. I will look into the possibilities of this. Another thing I've noticed is that me, and some other members work more efficient when we're working in groups, rather than individually. Whilst working in groups, we can share our knowledge with each other and ask each other questions about the development.

- What is my contribution towards the team's use of Scrum?

Always in the meetings, I am active in the discussion of which User Stories to focus on for the week, as well as which ones we should drop completely to make sure we finish on time etc.

- What is my contribution towards the team's deliveries?

This week I did little to any contribution. I made some code for how we could display the data as a heatmap, but ultimately Kresimir came with a better solution which we ended up settling for.

- What do I want to learn or understand better?

I want to improve my code that I've written for D3. It's currently quite ugly, but works.

- How can I help someone else, or the entire team, to learn something new?

I want to help the team all together by improving our teamwork and communications. So far I feel that our communication has been lacking, causing errors in the repository. I feel that if we work more together, rather than individually, we wouldn't come across these issues.

- What is my contribution towards the team's deliveries?

This week I've been working on the Legend for our heatmap, to improve visualization. It's pretty much finished, but I'm being bottlenecked by some of the others work and therefore haven't pushed it to the repository yet.

- What do I want to learn or understand better?

I want to better understand the collaboration between CSS, JS and HTML, to help improve the visuals of our project. The code I've written at the moment only spawns and SVG, and I want it to be properly placed and good looking.

- How can I help someone else, or the entire team, to learn something new?

I feel our communication has improved, and with project deadline in sight we are working harder and better than ever, both as individuals and as a team.

Always in the meetings, I am active in the discussion of which User Stories to focus on for the week, as well as which ones we should drop completely to make sure we finish on time etc.

- What is my contribution towards the team's deliveries?

I've done finishing touches to the legend of the map.

LV8

- What do I want to learn or understand better?

This week I'm not looking into any specific things to learn or understand better, since I will mostly be working on our presentation and final submission.

- How can I help someone else, or the entire team, to learn something new?

This week I took big part in the presentation, since I feel very comfortable in my social skills and speaking to a crowd. Other than that I have been having discussions with the rest of the team about what we could've done differently in our project, and the lessons we take from this course.

- What is my contribution towards the team's use of Scrum?

This week I was the Scrum Master. I do however feel it doesn't come with that much contribution this week, since we aren't going to work on any user stories related to the project.

- What is my contribution towards the team's deliveries?

I've finished the legend, and taken big part in the project. I will also be responsible for the team reflection this week.
